AMERICAN NUMISMATIC AND ARCHÆOLOGICAL SOCIETY OF NEW YORK.

A MEETING was held November 20, 1877, at Mott Memorial Hall, Prof. Anthon presiding. The executive committee recommended the election of seven corresponding members, and announced a gift from Mr. John Davidson of London, of "Souvenirs Numismatique de la Revolution," for which thanks were voted. The Curator reported a donation from Prof. Anthon of a Dollar of Gustavus Adolphus, struck in Augsburg, 1632, year of his death, thought to be his best numismatic portrait; has been gilded and used as a medal; one of Ulrica Eleonora, 1719, sister and successor of Charles XII, bust of the Queen; rev. Swedish coat of arms; and of a Jubilee dollar of Frederick I, husband of Ulrica; bust; rev. between two palm branches, busts of Gustavus Vasa and of Gustavus Adolphus in separate ovals. It was voted to purchase a bronze impression of the medal of Queen Victoria as Empress of India (originally struck in gold and silver for distribution by the government of India), lately offered the Society. Thanks were voted to Robert Morris, LL.D., for the gift of his work entitled, "Coins of the Twelve Caesars."

The following exhibitions were then made:—I. F. Wood exhibited an exceedingly fine specimen of the Martha Washington disme in copper; a medalet of the National Exposition at Rome, Ga., in 1857; a medalet of the bankrupt Farmers and Mechanics' Ins. Co. of New York, bearing a bust of its late President; a fine bronze medal of Henry IV of France, bust to right; rev. an upright sword supporting a crown between laurel branches and four shields in the midst of military trophies, legend, Victoria Yvriaca; a bronze medal of Louis XII; obv. bust; rev. a porcupine, above it a crown beneath three turrets; legend, Semper Augustus, Victor, Triumphator; a bronze medal of Louis XIII, obv. draped bust to right; rev. Victory in a chariot; legend, Ortus Solis Gallici, the whole surrounded by the signs of the zodiac, date 1638; and a fine bronze medal of Louis le Grand, bust to right; rev. wreath enclosing a long inscription relating to the Spanish war. Mr. Betts exhibited Hard Times Tokens of 1837-41, 62 pieces, including two in brass, and four cards, not usually classed among them, and several pieces of Luther, Zwingle, Huss, and Thiers. Prof. Anthon exhibited a Double Fox-Ducat of Frederick Augustus, (1694-1733.) Elector of Saxony and King of Poland, used in gaming; obv. checker-board, balls, mallet, and other objects used in play; rev. a fox; Twelve, three, and six roubles, in platinum, 1833; Double-guinea of Charles II, of African gold, (as shown by the elephant under the head,) date 1664, the year in which New Netherland was first conquered by the English; in proof condition; silver medal on the death of Cromwell; "Olivar. D. G. Rp. Ang. Sco. Hiberniae. Pro-
